

Bengt Steinbrecher

As Founder of the LH Startup MAQER, Bengt Steinbrecher is on the look-out for new solutions to today's key challenges for the building materials industry. Years back, Bengt brought his background in the startup and M&A environment to the now global leader in construction materials. In his 14 years with LafargeHolcim he held various management positions in-country and corporate operations, either establishing new teams and promoting innovative solutions or repositioning business units. In his role and part of the digital transformation, he is driving the open innovation framework LafargeHolcim MAQER and founded the startup collaboration platform LH Startup MAQER.
